2 (Call to Order of the Court.)

3 THE CLERK: Calling item No. 1, LA 24-cv-2886,
4 David Hough, et al. v. Ryan Carroll, et al.

5 Counsel, please state appearances starting with 6 plaintiff.

7 NICO E. BANKS: Good morning, Your Honor.
8 Nico Banks and my co-counsel Richard Nervig on behalf of 9 plaintiffs.

10 RICHARD A. NERVIG: Good morning, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: Good afternoon.

12 MR. BANKS: Good afternoon. I'm sorry.

13 MR. NERVIG: Oh. Yeah. Good afternoon.

14 WILLIAM H. SHIBLEY: William Shibley specially
15 appearing for the jurisdictional defendants.

16 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

17 The matter is on calendar for the order to show
18 cause re: sanctions that the Court sua sponte ordered at the 19 last hearing in this case. I also, prior to the hearing
20 today, distributed a close-to-final draft copy of the 21 preliminary injunction that the Court intends to enter today
22 before the TRO expires.

23 Let me take the draft first. Is there anything
24 about the draft that you want to comment on, Mr. Banks?

25 MR. BANKS: Your Honor, I certainly appreciate that

1 opportunity. I think reviewing the case law my impression
2 was that when you allege that a company is somebody's alter
3 ego, then the company is subject to personal jurisdiction
4 wherever that alter ego is also subject to personal
5 jurisdiction. And so I'm wondering -- partly because we --
6 you know, we intend to amend our Complaint coming up here
7 pretty soon, I'm wondering if you agree with that, and, if
8 so, are we -- are our alter ego allegations deficient
9 somehow?

10 THE COURT: I didn't focus on that specific
11 question in -- I assume that you're talking about the two 12 entities that I now don't think I have personal jurisdiction
13 over.

14 MR. BANKS: Right.

15 THE COURT: I only looked at is what did those --
16 what -- in the Complaint as alleged, what did those entities
17 do?

18 MR. BANKS: Uh-huh.

19 THE COURT: And it turns out, upon further review
20 -- my opinion was that those entities were alleged to have
21 transacted with people who are not actually California
22 plaintiffs in the action. And so based on that alone, I
23 determined that there wasn't personal jurisdiction over them.
24 I did not go back and say, "Well, if that's an alter ego,
25 then it's responsible for everything that this" -- you know,

1 "the individual defendant did." I didn't think about that.
2 So -- but if you're going to amend anyway, I would suggest
3 that you just amend to, you know, specifically say what that 4 entity was doing. So, for example, you could say, you know,
5 "Individual defendant, also acting as entity defendant, did"
6 -- "conducted the following transaction in California."

7 MR. BANKS: Okay. Thank you. That's helpful.

8 THE COURT: That'll make it clear for me to look 9 at.

10 MR. BANKS: Thank you.

11 THE COURT: Okay.

12 Mr. Shibley, anything on the preliminary
13 injunction?

14 MR. SHIBLEY: Yes.

15 THE COURT: Other than obviously what you've 16 objected to before.

17 MR. SHIBLEY: Yes. You know, I -- even going back
18 to International Shoe, I don't think the individual
19 defendants have sufficient jurisdiction. You know,
20 International Shoe is the first great case that talked about 21 choice of law and local jurisdiction.

22 I was afraid that we would be talking about other
23 issues, the tax returns that we provided where counsel
24 complained that they weren't sign, but I haven't personally
25 signed my own copy of a tax return since I tried to refinance

1 my house about 12 years ago.

2 THE COURT: They're e-filed copies?

3 MR. SHIBLEY: Yes.

4 THE COURT: Is that what you're telling me?

5 MR. SHIBLEY: Yeah.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 MR. SHIBLEY: Or they're copies that were prepared
8 by an accountant where the accountant had the party sign and 9 then submitted them and the party was not given duplicate of 10 --

11 THE COURT: I see.

12 MR. SHIBLEY: But that, I assume, would be a
13 discovery matter for us to deal with your magistrate judge.

14 And for the record, it's my understanding that you
15 are going to discharge the OSC re: sanctions and find no
16 sanctions --

17 THE COURT: Well, I'm going to talk about that in a 18 second.

19 MR. SHIBLEY: Oh. Okay.

20 THE COURT: Right now I'm only focused on the 21 preliminary injunction.

22 MR. SHIBLEY: Okay. Well, we agree that 23 eliminating corporate parties, as well as several of the 24 other parties, is appropriate.

25 As far as Max O., you know, I've read and re-read

1 his affidavit, and it seems to me that it set forth
2 sufficient facts. I suspect Your Honor has disagreed. Did
3 Your Honor have the opportunity to review what was provided
4 to you over the weekend and this morning?

5 THE COURT: Yes.

6 MR. SHIBLEY: Okay. And the other --

7 THE COURT: Although I should be clear about that,
8 I guess. That's -- I'm not sure about this morning. In 9 terms of what was filed over the weekend, I did review the 10 jurisdictional defendants' listed supplemental brief and 11 opposition and the exhibits attached thereto. Was there
12 something else?

13 MR. SHIBLEY: No. No. But the one issue we wanted
14 to bring up was the fact that Mr. Banks had actually 15 contacted one of the represented parties.

16 THE COURT: Yeah. I think that -- that is a
17 separate issue that I'm going to inquire into, but I don't
18 think it pertains to the preliminary injunction. So why
19 don't we finish talking about the preliminary injunction, and 20 then we'll move on.

21 MR. SHIBLEY: Well, you know, as the Court will 22 understand, on, I think, June 7th -- Monday, June 7th, there
23 are two motions pending. One is to dismiss for lack of 24 personal jurisdiction, and another is to refer this matter to 25 arbitration.

1 THE COURT: Right.

2 MR. SHIBLEY: And I don't know if Your Honor has
3 reviewed those as well?

4 THE COURT: Nope.

5 MR. SHIBLEY: Okay. But one of the problems I see
6 with the plaintiffs' case is that he's failed to attach the 7 contracts, and that may be because I came into the case late
8 and don't have the original exhibits that were filed.

9 THE COURT: You mean to the Complaint?

10 MR. SHIBLEY: Yeah.

11 THE COURT: Why -- what requirement is there that 12 he attach the contracts?

13 MR. SHIBLEY: Well, for evidentiary purposes the 14 substance of the contracts and the insistence on arbitration
15 in Texas choice of law would be appropriate.

16 THE COURT: It's an affirmative defense. You're 17 raising it, and you're doing it the way you're supposed to do
18 it. They've alleged a fraud. You've alleged that they have 19 to arbitrate the fraud claim. So, I mean, I don't think that 20 -- I don't think failing to attach the contracts to the 21 Complaint itself is here nor there.

22 MR. SHIBLEY: Or to the preliminary hearing -- or 23 TRO request.

24 THE COURT: I -- again, I don't think that that is 25 an affirmative burden on his part. That is an affirmative

1 defense on your part.

2 MR. SHIBLEY: Right. And we did attach those --

3 THE COURT: Yes.

4 MR. SHIBLEY: -- for the Court to review.

5 Finally, it -- it seems that limiting the TRO --
6 and we would disagree on Max O. because it seems that he is 7 only ancillary --

8 THE COURT: Yeah, I don't agree.

9 MR. SHIBLEY: Okay. Okay. Then I'll submit on the 10 TRO -- on the tentative.

11 THE COURT: Okay. Then I'll adopt the tentative as 12 a final. We'll issue it in paper form in -- before this 13 afternoon expires.

14 Let me turn to the order to show cause re:
15 sanctions.

16 I have a couple of questions for you,
17 Mr. Shibley. First, is it true, from your perspective, that 18 Max O. Day has no assets whatsoever?

19 MR. SHIBLEY: I think at some point he responded
20 further, and he responded in response to the discovery
21 request, and, you know, considering that I'm a California
22 attorney representing folks in Texas, I don't have personal
23 knowledge --

24 THE COURT: No, no.

25 MR. SHIBLEY: Oh.

1 THE COURT: I'm not asking you if you have personal
2 knowledge. Based on what has been disclosed, is it the
3 defendants' position that Max O. Day has no assets
4 whatsoever? Because he hasn't disclosed any.

5 MR. SHIBLEY: Well, he may have assets, and it's my 6 understanding that those have been frozen by --

7 THE COURT: Oh, the -- you're talking about the 8 Treat (phonetic) Bank? Is --

9 MR. SHIBLEY: Well, that was one, and I don't have 10 the full response to discovery, but he disclosed his home and 11 other property that he has in response to the discovery. So
12 they have a full and complete record of his -- anything that 13 he has access to or in his name or -- except counsel has 14 apparently brought Mr. "O. Day's" daughter's --

15 THE COURT: Well --

16 MR. SHIBLEY: Yeah.

17 THE COURT: -- I don't read it that way. The 18 email that was submitted -- I read it as Mr. Banks submitted
19 the restraining order to the bank and the bank took it upon
20 itself to freeze the daughter's account. So I -- I do not 21 have enough information to suggest to me that Mr. Banks did
22 anything improper "or," frankly, that the bank did anything
23 improper because why would they have frozen the daughter's
24 account if his name was not associated with it?

25 MR. SHIBLEY: And by the way, Your Honor, one more

1 thing on the preliminary injunction.

2 THE COURT: Yes?

3 MR. SHIBLEY: As to the funds that are already held
4 by the Texas firm in their attorney-client trust account --

5 THE COURT: Yes.

6 MR. SHIBLEY: -- are those subject to the $10,000
7 limit?

8 THE COURT: No.

9 MR. SHIBLEY: Okay.

10 THE COURT: As long as they're being used for, you
11 know, litigation expenses.

12 MR. SHIBLEY: Yeah.

13 THE COURT: If they -- you know, if the Texas law
14 firm decides to give them money back out of that account --

15 MR. SHIBLEY: Oh, I understand that.

16 THE COURT: Okay. All right.

17 MR. SHIBLEY: Okay. Okay.

18 And your second question?

19 THE COURT: Oh, yes. The second question was -- 20 I'm sorry. I lost my train of my thought.

21 (Pause.)

22 THE COURT: I'm sorry. I lost my train of thought.
23 It'll come back to me.

24 MR. SHIBLEY: And -- okay.

25 THE COURT: Anything else with respect to --

1 MR. SHIBLEY: No. Other than the fact that the
2 parties, as soon as they realized what hadn't been provided,
3 provided it as promptly as they could and I -- from my own
4 personal knowledge, I know that the people in Texas have been 5 working, you know, 12 to 15 hours a day to try to get 6 everything completed and served upon the plaintiff, and my 7 understanding is that they've produced everything.

8 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

9 Mr. Banks, let me ask you -- before I allow the 10 parties to say whatever they want, let me ask you a direct
11 question. Do you have any assets from Max O. Day? Because I
12 didn't see any evidence of the assets from Max O. Day.

13 MR. BANKS: Your Honor, I believe it was Max K. Day
14 who did not disclose any assets.

15 THE COURT: Nothing. Okay.

16 MR. BANKS: I think Max O. Day disclosed something,
17 like, $10,000 of assets in the original disclosure, and then 18 he disclosed a few more small accounts in the responses to 19 the interrogatories, and we can get into that.

20 THE COURT: Okay. All right.

21 Okay. I guess I don't have any more specific 22 questions about the discovery.

23 Are -- do you have anything with respect to the 24 original temporary restraining order discovery that you think
25 exists but don't have even today?

1 MR. BANKS: That's a very good question. The 2 answer --

3 THE COURT: I mean, obviously --

4 MR. BANKS: The answer is probably yes. I think
5 there is a lot of circumstantial evidence that there are a
6 lot of assets not being disclosed, but at this point I can't 7 point to a particular bank account or anything like that and 8 say that, you know, we know this account exists and hasn't 9 been disclosed yet.

10 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Thank you.

11 All right. I think based on that I'm going to 12 discharge the order to show cause re: sanctions that was set
13 for today.

14 And that leaves the question of the case going
15 forward. I was -- let me just say for clarity of the record
16 I was not troubled at all by the freeze of the daughter's
17 account. I mean, it seems like the bank did -- undertook 18 that on its own, and I don't have enough facts before me to 19 understand whether the bank properly froze that account or 20 didn't properly froze that account. I don't know based on 21 the information that's been presented.

22 I was a little troubled by the idea that, you know,
23 Mr. Banks directly contacted a potentially represented party,
24 but I also think based on -- well, first of all, the idea
25 that Mr. Banks threatened him is entirely conclusory. The

1 quotes that are actually in the declaration don't suggest
2 that, but that's kind of a different issue. The contact with
3 the represented party, though, I'm -- it is unclear to me
4 that Mr. Banks knew that this individual was represented.
5 That is not clear from the papers, and in fact, the 6 declaration itself from the individual sort of suggests that 7 he didn't know that he was contacting a represented party; he 8 was contacting someone whose name appeared on the website and 9 he wanted to know who he was.

10 And so I don't know that that's out of bounds,
11 Mr. Shibley but I -- you know, maybe we can litigate this in 12 the protective order context, but based on the information
13 that I have, I mean, it seems like, you know, it could have
14 been an innocent contact, and I would not find otherwise
15 based on what's been presented now.

16 (Pause.)

17 THE COURT: But I understand that you're going to 18 file a motion, and so we'll see what happens. I mean, to be 19 clear, I -- you know, I certainly don't support contacting
20 represented parties, but it's not clear to me that that's 21 what happened here, even taking the declaration of the 22 individual at face value.

23 MR. SHIBLEY: Thank you.

24 THE COURT: Okay. Anything else that we need to 25 cover today?

1 MR. BANKS: Just -- can I have one moment --

2 THE COURT: Sure.

3 MR. BANKS: -- to confer, Your Honor?

4 (Pause.)

5 MR. BANKS: Your Honor, I just have a couple
6 things.

7 First of all, you mentioned that the Texas attorney
8 account does not apply to -- or -- I'm sorry -- the limit
9 that the Court sets in --

10 THE COURT: The retainer.

11 MR. BANKS: Right. Does not --

12 THE COURT: Right.

13 MR. BANKS: -- apply to the retainer.

14 THE COURT: Yes.

15 MR. BANKS: So does that mean that the defendants
16 can spend the $10,000 per month on the attorneys plus the 17 $280,000 retainer?

18 THE COURT: I guess so, yes, because the retainer
19 is not current spending, as far as I'm concerned. It's a
20 litigation cost that's already been passed on to the lawyers.
21 If they want to release any of that money to the defendants
22 themselves, then I would want to know about that beforehand.

23 Is that clear, Mr. Shibley?

24 MR. SHIBLEY: Yes.

25 THE COURT: I mean, it seemed like it was clear.

1 MR. SHIBLEY: That seems to be my understanding as 2 well.

3 THE COURT: Yes. Yes. So they're ordered to 4 notify me -- they can't return the money in the client trust
5 account that was obtained for a retainer to any of the 6 defendants without leave of Court.

7 MR. SHIBLEY: Okay.

8 THE COURT: Okay. But, yes, I mean, I think that -
9 - well, I guess -- I mean, maybe for the time being the rule
10 should be no expenditures on attorneys' fees until leave of 11 Court is sought because if they have 280- -- well, if they
12 have some amount left over in the client -- in the retainer
13 agreement, it'll be a little while, at least, before the 14 Texas lawyers need to ask for more money; isn't that correct?

15 MR. SHIBLEY: I'm not sure, Your Honor. The last
16 -- the copyright case I had that ended up with a
17 Clarence Thomas opinion the plaintiff attorneys were asking
18 for 850 an hour and there were, like, ten attorneys. So I
19 don't know how many people are working on this, but I doubt 20 that they will -- these people will be available -- or able 21 to provide 10,000 collectively to the firm, but 10,000
22 collectively seems like a small amount considering everything
23 else that we're dealing with.

24 THE COURT: Well, I guess -- I can see a way that 25 the defendants could game the system by just continuing to

1 deposit money with the law firm and then waiting for the end
2 of the case and then, if there's a success, they just get all
3 the money back, right. So I mean, I could see where -- that
4 the system could be gamed, but I'm not so overly concerned
5 about it, but I guess why don't we -- you're coming back on 6 June 7th, you said?

7 MR. SHIBLEY: Yes.

8 THE COURT: Okay. So let's do this: Let's say no
9 "further" expenditures from the defendants themselves towards
10 legal costs, and if it looks like that's going to be a
11 problem for either you or the Texas firm, then we can -- I
12 will address it on June 7th.

13 MR. SHIBLEY: Okay.

14 THE COURT: Okay? And you can just tell me that 15 that's a problem, and you can explain why, and I'll fix it
16 then. Okay?

17 MR. SHIBLEY: Thank you, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Anything else, Mr. Banks?

19 MR. BANKS: Yes, Your Honor. The prior order
20 granting us leave to issue subpoenas -- which I appreciate -- 21 we asked for that to apply to financial institutions. We've 22 learned a little bit more, that some of the -- I think some 23 of the records of the dispositions of assets are going to be 24 with institutions that are not traditionally considered
25 financial institutions, like Amazon.

1 THE COURT: Hm.

2 MR. BANKS: And so I just want to make sure that it
3 wouldn't be out of bounds for me to issue subpoenas to 4 parties that I think have records of dispositions of -- you
5 know, dispositions by or for the benefit of the defendants
6 but aren't traditionally considered financial institutions.

7 THE COURT: Yes, I think that's -- I think that's
8 fine. I mean, third-party entities --

9 MR. BANKS: Okay. Thank you.

10 THE COURT: -- is fine. I mean, that's just part
11 of discovery.

12 MR. SHIBLEY: Do those need to be on shortened
13 notice under the rules?

14 THE COURT: The subpoenas?

15 MR. SHIBLEY: Or if they're subpoenas re:
16 deposition or subpoenas to the court.

17 THE COURT: I think that they're just subpoenas for 18 documents; right? You're just talking about document
19 subpoenas?

20 MR. BANKS: That's right. Just for --

21 MR. SHIBLEY: (Inaudible.)

22 THE COURT: Just that show -- like, account
23 statements. Things that show the disposition of assets.

24 THE COURT: I mean, I don't think that the 25 subpoenas themselves need to be expedited.

1 MR. SHIBLEY: Okay.

2 THE COURT: They'll just issue them in due course.
3 I -- I'm -- but I'm fine with them being issued now because 4 what we're -- what the Court is concerned about is making
5 sure that all the assets are on the table so that we know
6 what we're talking about.

7 MR. SHIBLEY: And I assume counsel will provide 8 copies of those subpoenas and the records produced?

9 MR. BANKS: Of course.

10 MR. SHIBLEY: Okay.

11 THE COURT: Okay?

12 MR. SHIBLEY: Thank you.

13 THE COURT: All right. Anything else, Mr. Banks?

14 MR. BANKS: Oh, yes. I'm sorry. There is one
15 other thing.

16 I just -- we just wanted to let the Court know that 17 -- I mentioned we're planning to amend our Complaint, and 18 when we amend the Complaint, it will be as a putative class
19 action, we think. So we just wanted to give a court -- the 20 Court a head's up about that.

21 THE COURT: Okay. We'll address that and 22 Mr. Shibley's objection when we get -- when we cross that 23 bridge.

24 MR. SHIBLEY: Thank you.

25 THE COURT: All right?

1 I don't know how the amendment is going to play
2 against the motion to dismiss and the motion to compel. So I
3 guess we'll just cross that bridge when we get to it.

4 MR. SHIBLEY: Well, for the record, the
5 Supreme Court has made it obvious that arbitration can apply
6 to class actions as well.

7 THE COURT: No, I know, but I just mean
8 procedurally. Like, if they amend the Complaint tomorrow,
9 can we hear the motion to dismiss and the motion to compel on 10 June 7? I don't know the answer to that. So --

11 MR. SHIBLEY: We can stipulate that you could. I
12 don't know if counsel is willing to.

13 THE COURT: I mean, if the issues are the same,
14 then presumably we could just go forward on June 7th.

15 MR. BANKS: I think that's right. So what's going
16 to be different is that the defendants failed to pay
17 arbitration costs for one of my clients, and so that client
18 now can come in to court -- the defendants have waived their 19 right to compel arbitration -- for four of my clients,
20 actually.

21 THE COURT: I see.

22 MR. BANKS: And so those will be the class
23 representatives where arbitration is not going to be an 24 issue.

25 THE COURT: I see. Hm. Okay. All right. We'll

1 cross that bridge when we get to it.

2 Okay. Anything from you, Mr. Shibley?

3 MR. SHIBLEY: No. I think we've covered it.

4 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

5 THE CLERK: All rise. Court is adjourned.
